BUTTE CURRENT NOTES.

John B. Toole of Anaconda was in town yesterday.

Dave Bricker will leave for the Denver races in a few days.

Hans Erickson, of Elkhorn, is in town the guest of Hans Boe.

The Butte Bird company yesterday shipped 10 bars of silver bullion worth $15,000.

A very pleasant entertainment was given at the Congregational church last evening.

The great Corbett-Jackson fight will be reported from the stage of the Comique to-morrow night.

Charles S. Eltinge has returned from New York city, where he has left his family for the summer.

P. P. Shelby of the Great Northern, returned to Helena yesterday, from which place he will continue on.

Cleopatra lodge, D. of R. will give an egg race in the Odd Fellows hall in Walkerville on Thursday evening. All are invited.

The meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Congregational church.

Mrs. Kate Winot filed with the county clerk yesterday a notice for right to use 50 inches of a spring near Moose creek road to irrigate a hay ranch.

A SNEAK THIEF CAPTURED.

The Man Who Robbed a German of His Money in the Tolls.

BUTTE, May 19.—John Gorman was arrested to-night on a charge of larceny, the accusation being that he is the man who robbed a German named William Becker of $13 in a 5-cent joint last night, by cutting out his hip pocket. Gorman had been arrested for vagrancy last night and to-day pleaded guilty. He was suspected of being the man who cut Becker's pocket. Becker was brought to jail this evening and identified Gorman as being the man who robbed him, and Eric Maelzer also identified him, claiming he saw him in the act of cutting Becker's pocket.

THEIR CHANCES GOOD.

Officers Duhme and McDewitt May Be Retained.

BUTTE, May 19.—The chances of Officers Duhme and McDewitt for retention on the police force are exceedingly good. Mayor Mueller has decided that Marshal Daum had told him the force could not very well be reduced at this time. He thought all the men are needed. It is not likely that the police commissioners will change the written report of its meeting, but in all likelihood a verbal report will be made with it, favoring the retention of the two officers, Duhme and McDewitt.

WANT TO HEAR INGERSOLL.

Talk of Having the Noted Lawyer Deliver a Lecture.

BUTTE, May 19.—There is considerable talk of requesting Col. Robert G. Ingersoll to deliver a lecture during his stay in this city. When seen this evening by a STANDARD reporter the colonel said that he had not thought of the matter, but if the people wished to hear him he might be induced to address a Butte audience.

City Attorney's Fees.

BUTTE, May 19.—Mayor Mueller has not yet secured an attorney to prepare the city's case in the dispute over city attorney's fees. Those he has seen have been very busy with other matters. The matter will be attended to in a day or two. It may be that the city attorney will consent to preparing both sides of the case, as he is a pretty fair-minded sort of a lawyer.

Incorporation Articles Filed.

BUTTE, May 19.—A copy of the articles of incorporation of the Railway Building and Loan association of Minneapolis, was filed with County Clerk Booth to-day. There was also filed a statement of its liabilities and resources and the appointment of L. Robbitt, secretary of state, as agent, and proceeds served upon him are to be held valid, as if served upon the company.

Mining Locations.

BUTTE, May 19.—Notices of location were filed with the county recorder to-day as follows:

The Lone Tree lode, unknown mining district, George M. Crawford and others.

The William Tell lode, unknown mining district, by George M. Crawford and others.

The Aurora lode, Camp Creek mining district, by William Barnes and others.

The Gold Spring placer, Camp Creek, William Bowers and others.

His Injuries Serious.

BUTTE, May 19.—F. M. Baldwin, the young man who was injured in collision in the Montana Union yards last evening, is resting quietly to-night. His injuries are of an internal nature, and are fully as serious as was anticipated last night.

Old Trustees Re-Elected.

BUTTE, May 19.—The annual meeting of the Anaconda Mining company was held to-day in room 1, in the Chambers' block. The old trustees were re-elected, and nothing else was done.

DAVIS' MANY MILLIONS

Preparations for the Noted Trial That Will Begin To-day.

THE BONE OF CONTENTION

A Little of the History of the Dead Millionaire—The Document That Caused the Trouble.

BUTTE, May 19.—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the great Davis will case in Department I. of the district court to-morrow. This case is the only one on the docket and will in all probability be called up at 10 o'clock in the morning. The first move of course will be the selecting of a jury. This is likely to take a couple of days, as the contestants hold that the residents of this county are biased and prejudiced in favor of the proponents. No one on the outside knows who will make the opening address, and just what line of procedure will be followed out. The contestants undoubtedly will make a desperate effort to break the will by proving that it is a forgery. From time to time they have had the musty document examined by the best experts in the country, and it is rumored that they have discovered in the seven letters of the signature 49 breaks, that is where the pen has been lifted from the paper. The proponents also have several experts who will swear diametrically opposite to the witnesses for the other side. The lawyers for both sides have been busy at the court house all day reading and re-reading stacks of legal documents and authorities. It is probable that the court house will be crowded to-morrow and on other days during the trial. The case is one of the most interesting ever begun in any court, and besides the array of legal talent gives promise of some grand oratorical performances. Representatives of the Chicago papers are already on hand and reporters are expected from San Francisco, Minneapolis and other large cities.

Col. Robert G. Ingersoll arrived in Butte at 6:40 o'clock this evening. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter Maude. They at once proceeded to the McDermott where they had dinner. At 8:30 o'clock the colonel went to the court house where he met several of the lawyers for the contestants, Clerk Will L. Clark and Deputy Irving. The next two hours was consumed in looking over papers in the case and discussing the coming trial. Colonel Ingersoll said that he supposed Nathaniel Meyers of New York city is on his way here, but that he will not come on account of illness. Hon. H. H. Trimble of Keokuk, Iowa, is here as a representative of the proponents. John A. Davis, Judge J. M. Woolworth of Omaha and Judge Corcoran of Bloomfield, Iowa, representing the proponents, are expected before to-morrow noon. The resident attorneys for Mr. Davis are Hon. W. W. Dixon, M. Kirkpatrick and Forbis Bros.

For the contestants, Henry A. Root and Maria S. Cummings, besides Colonel Ingersoll, there are on hand McConnell & Clayberg of Helena, Toole & Wallace of Helena, and W. H. Sletten of this city. J. Howard Smith of San Francisco is here in the interest of his wife, who is one of the heirs of the late Andrew J. Davis. Henry A. Root came over from Helena to-day and is very busy with his attorneys to-night. John A. Davis was at the McDermott hotel to-night in company with his attorneys.

SYNOPSIS OF THE CASE

About the Dead Man for Whose Fortune Men Are Scrambling.

Andrew J. Davis died at his home on East Broadway street in this city, on the night of Wednesday, March 11, 1890. He had been lingering at death's door for several weeks. A year previous, Judge Davis, in spite of his advanced years, was deemed by his physicians to be a man of comparatively vigorous health. Care, however, told upon him. His business interests were vast, and important transactions during the year previous to his death had left a deep imprint upon him. In November, 1889, Judge Davis left this city for a trip to the Pacific coast, his companions being Judge Dixon and Judge Knowles. After a few weeks he returned much improved in health. During the journey, while in Tacoma, he became much worse, however, and cerebral softening was developed, the disease which ended his life.

Andrew Jackson Davis was born April 25, 1819, and was therefore nearly 71 years old at the time of his death. His father was Asa Davis and his ancestors for many generations had been residents of Massachusetts and were connected with some of the most notable families in that colony and state. When a small boy he was sent to a boarding school in Massachusetts as an errand boy. Before he was of age he went with a small stock of goods, of which he was a part owner, to Madison, Ind. After staying there a year or two he went to Nashville, Tenn., still engaged in the mercantile business. After remaining a year in Nashville he went to Iowa and formed a partnership with Edward Manning at Keosauqua, Iowa. Some years afterward Mr. Davis removed to Lowell, Iowa, 16 miles from Keosauqua, and entered into business individually. There he carried on a store, grist mill and distillery and was the owner of several small stores.

About the year 1853 Mr. Davis went to California, leaving his business in charge of his brothers John and Calvin. He remained two years in California and acquired considerable money there. In 1856 he returned to Iowa, remaining there until 1864, still engaged in the mercantile business. In 1864 Mr. Davis came to Montana. He started either the first or second grist mill in Montana. The mill was located in Gallatin county, of which county Mr. Davis was at one time probate judge. After a few years he became owner of the Helena foundry, taking it for a debt. On acquiring this property Mr. Davis removed to Helena. For another small debt he became owner of the Lexington grist and saw mill in the year 1876. The mine had been known as the Alice Brown. This was re-located as the Lexington. This was the occasion of the Judge's removal to Butte in 1876. During the time the judge was owner of the Lexington, the gross product amounted in value to $1,600,000. The property was sold to the Lexington company for $1,000,000. Mr. Davis still retaining a large interest. Judge Davis built the second mill in the camp. About the year 1882 he became owner of a majority of the stock of the First National bank of Butte.

Judge Davis was regarded as the wealthiest man in Montana. His immense wealth was acquired, too, without any aids or starts in life. He was a man of extraordinary business enterprise, tact and ability. Almost every one of his ventures proved successful, and his fortune is estimated at $5,000,000 to $7,000,000. In addition to the First National bank, his property includes 14 per cent. of the First National bank of Helena. There is also a large block of stock in the Butte and Boston company and in the Lexington company and a great deal of real and personal property in Butte and elsewhere that goes with his estate.

Judge Davis was never married. He was one of 13 children, of whom 11 grew to manhood or womanhood. Erwin Davis, one brother, is a very wealthy operator in New York city; Calvin Davis is on a ranch in Sonora, Cal.; John A. Davis is at present in Butte; but has been a business man in Chicago for years; Diana Davis is an unmarried sister still living on the old homestead; and Sarah M. Cummings, Elizabeth S. Howdon and Harriet Woods are married sisters.

On March 28, the same month Judge Davis died, petitions of John A. Davis and Henry A. Root for letters of administration were filed with the district court. On April 2 the petition of T. J. Davis and Edwin Manning for letters to be issued to W. H. Young was filed. The public administrator, James W. Murphy, filed his petition for letters of administration on April 10. The applications for letters of administration was begun and on the 24th was concluded. The court on April 28 made an order appointing John A. Davis administrator of the estate and on May 31 Henry A. Root appealed from the order.

Up to July 24, 1890, it was supposed that Judge Davis had left no will. But on that day a document was filed with the district court clerk which upset completely all the proceedings in the case. The new document was none other than what purported to be the last will and testament of the deceased millionaire. It was dated and signed with age. It purported to have been made in 1866 and had been in keeping back in the attic of the late owner's property to John A. Davis. Jeff Davis, the illegitimate son, of Iowa, and the daughter were only to have an annuity for life, the annuity to be fixed by the executors.

The will, with a blank for places that are indecipherable, is as follows:

Know all men by these presents that I, A. J. Davis, of the county of Van Buren, state of Iowa, being in good health and of sound disposing mind and memory, do make and publish this my last will and testament, and as to my worldly estate and all property, real, personal and mixed, of which I shall die seized, possessed, or to which I shall be entitled at the time of my decease, I devise and bequeath to Thomas Jefferson Davis and Pet Davis and another, Miss Leverage, all three of Van Buren county, Iowa, a life time maintenance. That is to say they shall have the necessities of life out of my estate during their natural life, this amount of annuity to be stipulated by the executors herein first named, and the judgment of my executors as to the amount necessary to be set aside in support of above named persons shall be final.

Second—I give, devise and bequeath to my beloved brother, John A. Davis, possession of my real estate, my property, whether real, personal or mixed, to have and hold the same forever, together with all the profits and income therefrom, to John A. Davis, his heirs and administrators or assigns, to his and their use and benefit forever.

Third—And lastly, I do nominate and appoint James W. Murphy, of Van Buren county, state of Iowa, to be the executors of this my last will and testament.

In testimony whereof, I, the said A. J. Davis, give to this, my last will and testament, contained on one sheet of paper, I have subscribed my hand and affixed my seal, this 11th day of March, 1890, at the city of Lowell, Iowa, and declared by me at the presence of each other, have subscribed our names as witnesses thereto.

Witnesses: J. C. SCORCE, JAMES DAVIS, JOE DAVIS.

Henry A. Root and Maria Cummings promptly pronounced the above a forgery. For the contestants, Henry A. Root and Maria S. Cummings, besides Colonel Ingersoll, there are on hand McConnell & Clayberg of Helena, Toole & Wallace of Helena, and W. H. Sletten of this city. J. Howard Smith of San Francisco is here in the interest of his wife, who is one of the heirs of the late Andrew J. Davis. Henry A. Root came over from Helena to-day and is very busy with his attorneys to-night. John A. Davis was at the McDermott hotel to-night in company with his attorneys.

On August 9, a contest of the probate of the will was filed by T. J. Davis, his brother, and the executors assigned to John A. Davis. On the same day James W. Murphy, public administrator, asked for special letters of administration. Finally on August 12 James A. Talbot was appointed as a special administrator of the estate. On December 19 the hearing on the petition to probate the will was set for February 2, 1891, and on January 29, requests for a trial by jury were filed by Root and Cummings. Root asked for a continuance but his motion was overruled. On January 31 demand for a jury commission was filed by the contestants Root and Cummings. Then they moved the court to quash the venire and panel of jurors, and the motion was annulled. The alleged will had all this while been kept in the vault of Hoge, Brownlee & Co. a bank and on February Judge McElhatton made an order prohibiting the use of chemicals on the document. Pending a mandamus in the supreme court the case was continued from time to time until the 14th day of February, when the supreme court issued an order for quashing the jurors, and the jury was thereupon dismissed. On February 14, the contest of the will was set for May 20, 1890, by consent of all parties. A little later, on February 27, the petition of Maria Cummings and Henry A. Root for the removal of the special administrator was filed and the hearing set for April 13. The order appointing appraisers was made on March 19, and the same day the petition of Maria Cummings for the removal of John A. Davis as special administrator was filed. On April 10 a motion for a change of venue was filed, and on April 11 the hearing of the petition for the removal of John A. Davis was held. It was continued to May 11. Finally the petitions for the removal of Davis were argued and the court overruled the motion, as well as that for a change of venue. On the 15th inst. the contestants filed a motion for a jury trial, and also their appeal from the decision of the court in overruling the motions for the removal of Davis and a change of venue.

COMMITTEE ON BUILDINGS.

A Janitress Appointed for the New City Hall.

BUTTE, May 19.—The committee of the council on public buildings met this afternoon and appointed Mrs. Dietrich janitress of the new city hall. Mrs. Dietrich is a worthy widow woman. The committee also ordered a hole cut in the ceiling under the tower of the city hall to permit weights for the tower strike to descend. This was done at the solicitation of Fire Marshal Murray.

settled the Bill.

BUTTE, May 19.—Public Administrator J. W. Murphy has settled his case with the Helena Independent, by paying $300, the amount due for advertising up to the present time, and annulling up to the future. This proved satisfactory to both parties, the Independent evidently not relishing the class of advertisements sent down by Mr. Murphy to the Helena paper, although advertising is very dull just now.

THEY WANT MORE ROOM

Members of the Fire Department Have a Grievance.

A PLACE OF AMUSEMENT

A Plea to Be Made to the City Council for a Reading Room—The Mayor Intervened.

BUTTE, May 19.—Thompson Campbell, president of the Butte City Fire department, will appear before the city council at to-morrow night's meeting to urge the claims of the department for the hall on the third floor, originally designed for them.

"It was set apart for us in the plans," said Mr. Campbell to-day. "It was understood all around that we were to have this place for a reading room and library. With this end in view, the hole was cut from this room down to the lower floor, with a pole, so that in case of a fire alarm firemen could reach the hose carts in 10 seconds time. Until the past week there was no thought of giving the room to anybody except us. Now we are practically shut out of the city hall altogether. For nearly a year past we have been engaged in preparing for this transfer. We have reorganized, weeding out the dead timber, and we have been collecting a library. The committee of the council on furniture authorized me to purchase $200 worth of furniture for the reading room of the fire department, and I have expended the money in buying three fine book cases, besides tables, chairs, etc. The furniture might as well be thrown into the street if it is not to be used in the room for which it is designed. There is no other room in the hall that is anywhere near large enough for us."

"The firemen should certainly have some headquarters besides their sleeping apartments. They can't stay in the jail with the prisoners, and if they don't have a place they must be excused if they hang around the neighboring saloons."

Mayor Mueller was asked his opinion about the complication that has arisen in having more city officers than offices.

"I am sure I don't know what can be done," said the mayor. "We can't turn the city engineer out into the street. He must have an office, and the fire room is the only large enough for the city engineer. The city treasurer's office is not large enough for him."

The two small rooms on the west side of the city hall are not large enough, he says, and besides that, it is necessary that the city attorney and city marshal have offices. If I remember rightly, I think the firemen were assigned to this room. But certainly we must look after our own officers, and I think it is more necessary that the city officials have offices in the city hall than that the firemen should have a reading room. The city clerk certainly not large enough, and if it hadn't been for me it wouldn't have been as large as it is. It would have been built on a 30-foot lot if some of us had not kicked at it."

"I have been thinking a good deal on this matter since I saw the account of the difference in the STANDARD this morning. I think the best way is for the city to hang onto the old city hall and let the firemen have that, or at least the greater part of it. The police court room could be turned into a fine reading room for the firemen. I think that is what should be done."

Some of the firemen say that if suitable quarters are not found for them, they might as well be dismissed, and will do so, if they have any voice in the matter.

Alderman McDermott, chairman of the committee on public buildings, is out of town at present, and he may desire some changes in the present assignment of offices, when he returns.
